Read&Write for Google is a literacy support extension that offers text-to-speech, word prediction, picture dictionaries, and other tools that make digital reading and writing more accessible. It helps students—especially those with learning disabilities—by reducing cognitive load, supporting decoding and comprehension, and giving them multiple pathways to demonstrate their thinking with |

We share our Early Literacy Support Teacher with Colby 50/50. - CYCP video - NEW SAC chair.... Grace McCreight has accepted the nomination and the SAC voted to accept her as our chair for 2026-2027. - Question for PTO – did anyone look into the insurance yet for ice skating? - BBQ sold – not sure that the monies will come back to us though – I am being told it goes back into HRCE general funds. - Crib boards - |
| SSP | We did our reflection for cycle 1: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Literacy: Across P–6, we are seeing clear evidence that students are developing stronger foundational literacy skills and engaging more confidently as readers and writers. Teachers are noting measurable growth in decoding, encoding, descriptive writing, and overall risk-taking in literacy tasks. Overall our African NS students and our Indigenous students are meeting in reading and writing. |
